MISS MAYFIELD NEW SPEECH INSTRUCTOR

Miss Emma E. Mayfield has been engaged as speech and dramatic instructor at Wartburg college. She received her B. A. from the U. of Dakota and her M. A. from the U. of Iowa.

She has worked as a speech clinician at Indiana university at Bloomington in 1939-40. She taught in high schools in New Mexico and Nebraska. At Peru, Nebraska, college in 1941-42, she taught speech. She will fill the post vacated by Miss Gunilla Oppegaard.

'OPRY HOUSE' TO BE STAGED OCTOBER 15

One of the first homecoming activities will be the all-student Opry House' talent show. The show will be staged in the college auditorium, Sunday, Oct. 15.

The stunts will be around the theme, "United Nations," will depict scenes from the national life of the various united nations, and will also include views of our American home front.

Twelve skits are already entered in competition for the $50 dollars awarded in three prizes to the most original and entertaining skit. Skits are to be limited to ten minutes in order to give all the organizations a chance in the hour and a half show. Somehow, impartial judges from down town will choose the winning three skits, and the winners will be announced at the homecoming banquet.

LEAGUERS HOLD FALL RALLY

The Cedar Valley Federation of Lutheran Leagues held a fall rally at St. Paul's church in Waverly on Oct. 3rd, with about 150 Lutheran leaguers registering from Waverly, Readlyn, Janesville, Waterloo, Tripoli, Cedar Falls, Dunkerton, Independence, Bremen, Remington, Denver, Wartburg, Parkersburg, Greene, Kesley, Hampton, La Porte City and Allison.

The convention opened with divine services at 10:8 a. m. at which time the local pastor, Rev. O. Fangmeyer spoke on the convention theme, "Strengthen." Devotional session began at 11:8 a. m. and was followed by lunch at noon.

An executive meeting preceded the business meeting which began to order at 1:30 p.m. Edwin Neumann of St. Paul's church served as vice president to succeed John Fuchs who graduated from college. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the financial report was given by Miss Dorothy Hinrichsen, secretary-treasurer. Delegates to the Wartburg college Luther League convention highlights were discussed by Genevra Fuchs, convention president, and Robert Pape of Waterloo.

During the afternoon, various reports of the federation's special tasks or skits portraying the different phases of Luther League work. Included were the new organizational set-up of the Luther Leagues, the present work of the service secretary, how the Y-Fly is used, and a skit on the literature department of the league. The Wartburg leaguers presented a skit showing the right and the wrong way of presenting topics and leading discussions. Alice Mae Kruse was solo, 'Wherever You Are.'

A recreational program under the leadership of Mr. Fruehling preceded the evening session at which Edwin Neumann served as toastmaster. Highlight of the banquet was the talk given by Rev. Robin of Cedar Falls on "Paths to Peace." He made leaguers feel that personal consecration is essential to a Christian's own way of life. "Christianity is not a matter of not will-power, but of joyful satisfaction of knowing that a way has been won for Savior, Group singing, and interesting numbers by several leaguers added in making the banquet a great success.

He is taking pre-medical courses here and plans to major in German and hopes also to major in Chemistry. As to sports, Herman likes bowling, football, baseball and swimming.

Herman asked what his first impression was of this country, he answered, "Pretty cities and I still prefers the deep South because of the scenic beauty." Herman in which he grew up, and most of all because of a certain Texas "somebody"—a beautiful, green-eyed blonde—he will return.

Another student coming from a entirely different direction is Bruno Green, freshman, from Cheyenne, Wyoming, where he attended Colorado State College of Education at Greeley, Colorado. He is also a graduate of the Rangely high school and the Rangely Junior college. Bruno is a junior at the college here, and is majoring in Biology. He is also musically inclined, especially with the guitar and organ.

When asked what he thought of school, Lowell said that Wartburg tops them all. The spirit of Wartburg, not the Freshmen, but the students were among Lowell's first impressions.

Montague Paints Vivid Picture of Far North

By Elsa Schatf

Waverly was honored last Monday evening, Oct. 4, to hear Mr. Harry Montague who spoke on the Arctic Frontiers. Mr. Montague, who is known as the friend of "Monty of the Mounties," was a Royal Canadian Mounties for six years during which time he served on Aerial duty.

During his speech, Mr. Montague took the audience on an imaginary trip through the Yukon, Alaska and Canada. He told of the beauty of the country, of the many deposits of minerals and oil are to be found. At the rate of our present consumption of minerals the United States supply will last only twenty-seven more years.

Great herds of caribou roam the territory and make one wonder if there is really a shortage of food. One vivid example of the great abundance of food Mr. Montague was that just one herd of caribou was large enough to keep the packing houses in Chicago and Kansas City busy for fifteen years. So in view of these facts, there is no reason why we should be asks in the hope and salvation of our United States and perhaps the world in future years.

Interspersed with humorous incidents of his experiences as a Mountie were descriptions of the Eskimos. Mr. Montague presented a weird picture of the Arctic regions and the beauty and weight of authority. He emphasized the importance of the Mounties in particular, to national and international relations with the United States.

A tremendous step forward was taken by the completion of the Alaskan highway, Montague observed. Besides opening the country, transporting people to the North has become easier and the goods that previously held down development are now available.

The highway was constructed in the shortest time possible, he said. The road is built through the mountains and is only a few miles to Fairbanks, Alaska. Montague told of the many difficulties in the construction came from the frozen ground and the mosquitoes. Said Montague, "And 75 per cent of the mosquitoes were female."

The Royal Canadian Mounties, or Mr. Montague pictured them, are not the dashing gallant type played up by Hollywood, but the Mountie is only a servant of the people. They are put through a three years' training period during which time they are taught how to prevent crime rather than organized punishment. They study geology, geology and even how to deliver babies. In distant and

ARMY, NAVY TESTS TO BE GIVEN NOV. 9

The second qualifying test for the army specialized training program and the navy college training program which will be given throughout the country will be administered at Wartburg college on Tuesday, Nov. 9, Dr. M. Wilhelmsen announced today. A complete set of general information regarding the examinations, classification tests may be obtained from Prof. A. A. Arndt. This form properly filled out will admit to the test. Students between the ages of 17 and 21, inclusive, who are recent high school graduates or who will be graduated by March 1, 1944, intend to take the test should be made known immediately to Prof. Arndt in order that the necessary test supplies may be ordered.

The same examination will be given by both army and navy officers. The examination is designed to test the students' ability to think quickly and intelligently in the program of college training and all qualified students are urged to take the test. At the time of the test each candidate will be given a choice of service preference, but taking the test does not obligate the candidate to enlist in the service.

The army specialized training program and the navy college program enable students to continue academic training at government expense following induction into the service forces. Upon successful completion of the prescribed courses students may receive a commission in the army or navy.

Those selected for the program will, after screening and basic military training, be sent to college. Students chosen for the navy program will be selected by the Office of Naval Officer Procurement and will be ordered directly to college. Students who attend college under either of the programs will be under military discipline on active duty and drawing army pay. All expenses, including tuition, food, books, laundry and uniforms, will be paid by the government.

STUDENTS!!!

The Wartburg Trumpet—"Official student newspaper of Wartburg College"—or is it? The work is done by a few and the criticisms come from many. Which, supposedly, makes it the voice of all the students?

But have you ever noticed how hard it is to carry out someone else's ideas? That they do it the most perfectly? Its better satisfied with their own result than with someone elses'.

At works that way on the Trumpet, too. Your ideas are very much appreciated—but how about coming down to the Trumpet office to help put them into practice—"it's your dream"—so you help to carry on from here!

THE OFFER OF THE COLLEGE . . .

To be at home in all lands and seas: to count Nature a familiar companionship: to feel the inspiration of her moods: a standard for the appreciation of other men's work and the criticism of your own: to carry within you resources for solitary in your pocket, and feel its resources behind you in whatever task you undertake: to make hosts of friends among men of your own age who are to be leaders in all walks of life: to lose yourself in generous enthusiasm and cooperate with others for common ends: to learn from them, as from students who are gentlemen, and form character under professors who are Christians: this is the offer of the College for the best four years of your life.

Whitaker's Book Featured In Daily Convocations

Readings from "We Thought We Heard the Angels Sing," by Ezra James Whitaker, comprised the first portion of the series of devotional programs for the week of September 27 to October 1. Whitaker's story of seven different families and their reactions to ocean and then rescue was based on the Biblical account of Jonah, the parable of the lilies, as told by the evangelist Luke, and Psalm 107.

Wartburg's talented pianist, Elroy Bahr, played the first of his numbers in the students' recognition program, the Andante Cantabile and Finale from Tschaikowsky's Sonata Finlandese. Selections from Mendelssohn's "Songs Without Words" were played by Lorabeth Peelman, violinist, and Robert Dreyer, junior pianist, from Spring Valley, Minn., spoke on "Knights to Remember" in the Thursday convocation. Dreyer's selections were Rachmaninoff's Prelude, Opus 23, No. 5, and Chopin's Etude, Opus 25, No. 12.

Friday, October 1st, Dr. Hillier, visiting Luke, 2:1-3 as his message. His subject was "The Necessity of Jesus' Birth." "Thou Art My God," by E. Rabinowitz, was the musical number by Helen Milne.

On Monday, Oct. 4, a travel picture of Palestine and an inspiring picture illustrating the Lord's Prayer.

Reverend Dills of South Rock spoke Wednesday. Basing his talk on Psalm 23, 24-30, and Luke 18, he emphasized the importance of the Lord in our relationship to Him and the necessity of having faith brings.

Mrs. Ruth Wolf read the "Story of the Violin Serman," by Ralph Connor. Violet Gold played a trumpet solo.

(balding the sun)—get the idea? Well, Whitaker's book is the interesting geeks around and Ruth Marie Hoffmann (43) was the lucky little lady who caught it. Fred savvy (43) hasn't been seen since and Ruth Lytton in turn—witness the sparkle of an engagement ring on her hand, of Edna Hanschter (41). Olive Dwerf (41) and Paul Hoffmann, coming Queens, has been engaged almost immediately. Just a few post Student Proxy, Ace Schaefer, who is now Proxy at Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, Ia.

Speaking of college romance, Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Hauff, of Lincoln were honored on their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary recently. A quote from the local paper: "Both Mrs. and Mrs. Hauff attended Wartburg College and their marriage September 18, 1918, in Strawberry Point with Rev. G. Fritschel officiating was the culmination of a college romance."

Bob Reese is stationed at Fairmont, Florida. The former Waverlyite likes the sweet life and writes that he misses Dale Wulf there. Most Wartburgers will remember Reese as the fellow who was awarded ten dollars in three bucks in the last issue of the Western Union game to give the Knights a lift.

UPPERCLASSMEN GO CLASSY; FORM SORORITY

By Darlene Brandt

Do you remember that common, everyday, ordinary-looking house on the corner of Third Avenue and Eighth Street, which was known as the Sorority house? Well, within the past four or five days, that abode has taken on more significance. As it hasn't been painted recently and still remains a good celebrities. It has (of all things) formed a sorority and named it Sorority House.

Dr. Fritschel dug deep into the Greek classics for words, and finally came up with Delta Mu Sorority. Now the former Sorority House is the Delta Mu Sorority House. Get it straight now. Delta Mu Sorority House.

As for the sorority itself, under the able direction of Fern Gerlach, as president, Betty Hanson, as vice president and Jean Dreweke, chief secretary-treasurer, its purposes are: To promote friendship. The organization is exclusive for junior and senior girls only. Fifteen charter members have been drafted and will be pledged at a later date.

With the event of a sorority to Wartburg, who can tell what the future holds in store for us!

Is My Face Red?

In Dr. Hillier's face red: Our physiology prof. had us take a couple if bar-makers from the adjacent bar in Elsa and he didn't have any defense!

It started when Hillier, with intense glee, found an opportunity to inform the Chem making fellows that that the word "chemistry" was derived from Cham or Ham, the founder of the crypto race. Hence, the word meant the "Black art".

The challenge was immediately met by the English: sabbatoth, who poured forth a stream of words that even Hillier, himself, had proved that Dr. Hillier had overlooked the point.

Next class period, Al dissected the manuscript and that Dr. Hillier had about forgotten of its word. Al finished quoting Webster. Doc shuffled his feet and blushed but Martin read on. After Dewey Rhoten of Chemistry was heard from, Hillier grew red and his hands drop into his pockets and turned in disgust. Somehow—there was one more authority to be quoted—and as the encyclopedia Britannica declared forever any connection between Wyandotte and Ham, Hillier gave up and only laughed—as well he might for he'd been had!

Hillier got his revenge in the classes ever again that the word chemistry was derived from Ham.

And did a true derivation—is from the Greek chyma, meaning to pour, or from Chem—the land of Egypt—and means the "Land of the Egyptian country."

P. S. He still the black art. Doc says!

A dozen happy Rovers showed themselves in fine good form last Thursday night, Sept. 30, with their first picnic of the year. Miss Smith built a roaring fire in the fireplace and the group, after supper, with the girls gathered around and opened conversation. The girls had outdone themselves in the line of delicious eats and the boys showed their appreciation by heartily thanking out on a mouthful per, after a hearty round, shouting "Lucky, Lucky. Want more!" Then the business session was breathless with suspense and turned speedy and quiet. That's all she said in the show.

Dramatists Exhibit Genius

New members of the Dramatics club had to prove their worth on initiation on Friday, Sept. 24, by acting out famous scenes from famous dramas—including that famous tragedy, "Little Red Riding Hood." Evelyn Klatt proved to be a lovely heroine among so many wolves, while Marvel Ann Ackerman, who really frightened me to bed last night, was chosen Jack Meyer in the role of her grandmother, the wonderful Rose really frightened! He even frightened the wolf, when Little Red scolds you have grandmother!) Del Becker ably directed the Thespians in their initial production.

Then the fun began when each member had to depict a scene from a famous movie. Loretta Baumgartner was real good calculating in her role as the wife in "Little Women." And everyone did help in the aisles when Jack Meyer and Naomi Bichert gave a scene from "Of Mice and Men." Who will ever forget Lois saying, "Rabbits—oh rabbits nice soft furry rabbits. Ah I used to rabbits." But grandmother, what long ears you have!

The Wartburg players are well equipped to give Dr's story, "Gone With the Wind," because it has Evelyn Scarlett O'Hara in Jean Dreweke Hahn. And what does "Gone With the Wind" need besides Scarlett O'Hara? Margaret also played one of the roles in "Russian Comedy with Marvin Ackerman directing and he turned out to be a regular Ivan the Terrible and Joseph Stalin rolled into one.

Lowell Green, that Greeley Kid, showed us what it feels like to be all alone in a room in which the waiters is slowly rising—and Evelyn Klatt and Naomi Bichert's show by running out on a mouthful per, after a hearty round, shouting "Lucky, Lucky. Want more!" Then the business session was breathless with suspense and turned speedy and quiet. That's all she said in the show.

Students Contribute Ideas, Criticisms to Trumpet

What do you read first in the Trumpet? What part of the paper interests you most? Do you think the Trumpet is a good newspaper? Do you think it lacks anything, what are your suggestions? These are some of the questions asked the Wartburg students during last week's student poll. Here are the answers:

Lorraine Thomsen: I usually read the front page first and then the editorials page. Next I think I read Trumpet's pretty good college newspaper.

Wallace Becker: I usually read the foreign editorial first and then sports are the most interesting things to me. All in all I think it is a good paper.

Rita Stahl: Usually the gossip first, but I like all of it! It's a good paper.

Jean Gold: I think I read the front page first, especially news about future events. Yes I think it is a complete college paper.

Lowell Koch: Sports come first I like to read about Wartburg and I think the Trumpet looks sports, I can't explain it exactly but there is something missing along this line.

Margaret Herman: I like to read the gossip first and I like the rest of the paper too. I think the paper is O. K.

Arlene Boese: I like the gossip part the students write and I like everything in general. Yes, I think it's a complete paper.

Paul Keller and George Reid, Jr.: We like features best because they are most likely to be read. Some more features, better editorials, more sensational news something, news and editorials, it should have some kind of a program, a gossip column, a sports column, O. K. work for. We think the final line is both the writing and the lay-out sorting. Editorials and features should have more bonking interest (Wow!) We think the sports page is good. (Sit now, get your pen out to yet, George?)

Vic Gelt: I think the first page or this year was better. Him those first some out. Yes I think the paper is doing a good job of being noncommittal. Editorials could be improved, general sensational.

John Gaede: Social activities never get most. Could use more pictures, not so many boring editorials. I think the paper as a whole is rather dull this year.

Bob Brevere First I look to see what date it is to be sure it is the latest paper. I like the sports page most. I think the general appearance could be improved, but I don't know exactly how. I think the paper carries out the standards we have set well and I think the publicity is good in the Trumpet.

We find there's a time to work and a time to play
And a little of both is done every day.
Our theory is this, and I speak for the boys,
Don't let any school work conflict with our social joys.

Orchids to the boys who stayed up all night and painted Wartburg until next noon for the man-hunt. They're greatly appreciate and lookers more for the classes they missed while finishing their paperoic duty!)

And then there was the freshman who tried to enroll for the leadership course advertised in the Ice Mixing Bowl.

We have observed in our years of expe experience that there are three things that lead to success in finishing freshman endevour to observe in freshmen. 1. To attend as many of the opposite sex as possible. 2. To learn how to drink moderately. 3. To get out of as much work as they can.

The Waverly high school officials have decided to give the college students the same rules as the high school, namely thirty cents. (Thanks to some high management from Loots and Sailor Joe ticket home.)

Lets show our appreciation by attending the home games and pulling for the Golfweed!

Kort Deals Harshly with Wicked Frosh

"Everybody's here I guess,
All I see is green.
This is Kangaroo Court,
And are we ever mean!

The jury's in there places—
Why is Kort's face so blank?
We'll try its cases justly
Or else we'll walk the plank.

We're glad to see you, Judge,
You're looking spry I say.
What have you on the docket
Shall we get the freshmen out

The Judge:

The court shall come to order.
Let's all get in the mood.
Bring up the first defendant,
I'll try not to be rude.

With the reading of these immortal words, the court seizes Kangaroo Kourt convened for its yearly hearing of the cases of our lowly freshmen in their failure to conform with the ancient customs and laws held by our predecessors in both the halls of learning.

The Right Honorable Judge Bartha, donning his robe of black trimmed in red, presided over the proceedings, while the jurors, the defendants, and the spectators found places in the balcony. Meyer did his best to confuse the freshmen and succeeded in the case first defendant at hand.

Dr. Kretzmann, representing the Board of Control, the gentlemen, Weisfeldt and Crownover, were present as witnesses for the representative Roth, the fairer sex, Ackerman, Priske, and Hallquist residents both with the letter "H" for last names, but not for initials, the little prodigy, the brain child, the great Kort himself, who he acted like a moron — Keller, Maurer also stationed beside the judge to impress the defendants with his physique and massive law and order.

Roth, being convicted for seperating too well, obeying all the rules, acting in the proscription of other freshies, and of being such a brown nose, caused the audience with two selections at the piano, Grieg and Rubenstein, participated in an interesting and probable shoe shining incident, Leland Bunge, in a blanket, had to sing the Kangaroo Kourt song, the Indians were coming and almost broke a window, Ackerman and Priske displayed previously unknown vocal talents in a duet, Wolfgang Mozart proved himself a good Shimmy dancer, Kort proposed to Schultz-Gerstenberger—and the program was really accepted by Barb, Ackerman, Priske, and Ferguson!

Conrad Ide was sentenced to be married to wife for eternity for one week, and performed this unpleasant task faithfully. Yet to come is our boy buggy parade with Wally Hallquist and Mary furnishing the manpower.

As after all, Ide's being sentenced in absentia was the second thing that could have happened to him—being at Kruzt was the worst.

Freshies Vote "All-Male" Ticket

Four freshmen boys came out with fifteen votes each at the final meeting of the 1943 freshman class as the "greenies" voted a mild male ticket. Edward Fritschel was elected to the presidency, Walt Bahr to the vice-presidency, Leland Bunge to the treasurer's position, and John Goede was elected secretary. The newly elected officers are beginning plans for the freshie-sophomore tilt in the form of a "fight for it" night and a float for the parade.

Behind The Varsity

by Don Loots

Ah for the life of a sports reporter! The easiest position on the Trumpet staff—we were told—any other year, perhaps. The editor of this column last year cleved up by hoping "that there would be a sports page." And the editor would need 4 or 5 assistants. That was last year. Things have changed though. The assistants (6 ambitious freshmen) are ready to work but there is nothing to report. Those freshmen will get their chance in the near future, though!

We've heard rumors and false reports from supposedly reliable sources but to date nothing has materialized. Logically we could tell you of the prospects of the varsity in the Iowa Conference but we can only discuss last year's team. We could tell you that Wartburg was one of seven unbeaten-untied, and unscored-upon college teams in the United States.

Maybe that's one of the reasons why the students are so anxious to keep football. Our diamond jubilee football team certainly helped put Wartburg on the map! We feel that there was more athletic talent on the campus last year than at any time in the history of the school. The armed forces took most of them but they'll be back after the war and don't forget our new gym isn't far in the future. The expository comment in the "Trumpet" was of seven informative plans. The immediate problem now is finances. And no building will be started until after the war. Here's hoping that our next championship football team will play in a new stadium!

The inability to get games with other schools isn't stopping football here, though. In the second regular intramural game Luther Cronstad's Army team whipped Drewes' Navy eleven 13-0. Lowell Koch and Ralph Bowman were responsible for all the scoring. He intercepted one pass and ran 30 yards for one tally and another pass to Bowman accounted for another. Sandy and Herman Mansur looked best for the losers.

This is as good a place as any to give a little credit to Doc Hertel, our new athletic director. Doc is a busy man and he's been doing a good job in keeping the intramural program functioning smoothly. It wasn't the athletic council's fault that we didn't have any games. They wrote or phoned to nearly every college in the vicinity. Even the Royal Swedes of Custavus Adolphus was almost arranged but it fell through at the last minute.

Don't say we didn't tell you if an outside college team of some sort plays here for homecoming. Anything can happen this year and the homecoming committee is already trying. We'll go out on the limb a little further and pick the Knights to whip T. C.

With the enthusiasm and spirit that the boys have we don't see how they can miss. Maybe the score won't be 35-0 but there'll be enough talent to turn it a mighty fine team. That game will probably be the last chance for many of the fellow to play college football. We feel sure that they won't miss this opportunity to give Wartburg it's third straight homecoming victory.

Amazons Take Over Football Tactics

If you should glance out of the window one of these warm, fall days, especially as you would see a group of "blue shorted, shirtless" girls playing touch football, marching—the left, Wright kind—on the field to undergo an exciting half hour of bumping heads, smashing shins, and finally bursting each others's little bubbles out—which ended in a foul—in a wild attempt to get the ball through the other side's goal. Sounds like some of the hockey we played on our team.

kind of field that the boys play on. Some of the girls have improved for the similarity of tactics.

Rules are used as the positions are then granted—lucky soldier—. She has a genial fellow they can discuss the various courses they take, etc.—mostly, no doubt.

But pity the poor fellow/s and the girl/s who have to run around the field all the time looking for it if they were really serious playing something.

Perhaps the next one goal, is made—much to the disgust of the other team, and the "Field Commander" breaks away from the group. The manager accosts the gym combine and another game is in progress.

But this game sounds themselves to be more that they have undergone fully pulled through another season. Perhaps they have some advantage—although a few of their members may be somewhat crippled—Liberty (until the next gym period) and competitive Happiness.

ALLEN WITH WOLVERINES

Headlines in the Trumpet a year ago today read, "Allen scores two points in Knights' victory." This followed the Knights' 14-0 victory over Northwestern College and preserved to the Wartburg freshman his hard-fought record. The original independent described him as "one of the hardest running backs we have seen for some time." Riley scored all of the Knights' points that night. The week following he threw touchdown passes to his brother, Elgin to give the Knights a 14-0 win over Bisons' Viets.

In the 33-6 homecoming win over Western Union, Riley scored two touchdowns. Dave Bowman was also mentioned to "Toffy" Oleson's sports column for his work in other ways. He closed by scoring against Beloit as a sophomore by intercepting the individual scoring honors with 12 points.

When the All-Conference teams were announced Allen was named as a defensive back, also second base receiving berth, and shortstop and place kicker. What more is a coach looking for? Oh, yes!

Riley enlisted in the navy V-12 unit and went to Furman, Illinois, for his basic training. He went to the U. of Wisconsin, second for the advance instruction in radio. After a short stay there he went to the Wisconsin varsity, Coach Harry Stuhldreher was so well pleased with his work that he named him to the varsity squad which will make the trip to Iowa City Saturday.

Allen didn't see action against the Wartburg team but he will as soon as he becomes more familiar with the Wolverines' style of play. He is the only Iowan on the Wolverine squad.

SENIOR

Arnold Raabe

Another "Arnie" is president but this is on the up-and-up. Arnold was born in a log cabin on a farm in Wilton, Wis.

Raabe has led an active life, at one time farm hand. While still in his teens' years, he was a lumberjack in the North Dakota harvest fields, topped beets in Minnesota, worked in the steel furnace Red River Valley. Last summer he was wheeled cement in an army camp.

Finally, when the wanderlust got out of his blood, Arnold decided he would like to go to college. Wartburg has never been sorry that he came. During the time in which he has been here he has been active in many campus activities, last year he was a Dramatics Club Alvero. Besides being president of the class he does work with Gamma Gamma. Also over the high-light of his college career came when he was elected Student Prexy last spring.

He also has hobbies, namely, hunting and fishing. And in this isn't enough, he still has time for an occasional date. Rumor has it that he is a girl, he's a good looking one he hasn't been seen. (Tell)

Navy Whips Army 7-0

The 1943 Knights—putting the enthusiasm of the real thing into touch football—defeated the Navy team, conquerors of the army's one. Paul Keller threw the winning touchdown pass to Hans Sandvick, who started to across the end zone. The team-work was repeated a few seconds later to clinch the extra point.

Valuable Yo-Yo Lost By Wartburg Golfers

Hanselman Also Reported Missing.

(By "Ebba")

I'm beginning to wonder just what golf is good for. Not only is a club at a little white ball and a little white ball at the club but dribble along a few feet and expect to win the hole, and you're accidentally out of bounds. Why, the golfers I know are a bunch of cheaters and shrubbery on the other side of the country. Golfers are scored of the Wartburg books and they, that is the golfers, hesitate to watch for the oncoming Knights. We finally had a board meeting with the gophers last night and we agreed to stay open so that they'd have ample warning to duck for cover.

Jack (Spoon) Mayer—we're getting used to Spoon—like golfing terminology and put in the golfers' absence. Spoon's golfing is best game of all—Sandy seems to knock off ten strokes on every round, and if he keeps up his practice he'll be by the day after tomorrow he'll be able to circumnavigate the globe in two drives and a left-handed putt.

Yo-yo Lost

Shorty Schier has even changed his golf bag. Carrying the ball now looking for the master hold of all—knowing that's why we're here we knows just how to operate the yo-yo.

Gaede and Svenson really make a lonesome—they spend the first half of the afternoon looking for the ball the last half looking for the brand new, U. S. Nobby that Sandy and the gophers abreast. But the best golfer by far is none other than Kenneth "Hook" Hanselman. Yesterday as we were playing rounds we spotted something moving in the tall grass—we whipped out our driver and slowly sneaked up on the ferocious beast. Imagine our surprise when we found "Hook" Hanselman on his hands and knees creeping for a lost ball. He said he had had visions of the middle of the week. The "Hook" was taller than "Hook" was—and he wandered around for a while. "Hook" finally said it was a yo-yo. We were all glad to see the golf team so we started to play with. "Hook" in turn carried my bag—course but you sell minded boys remunderstand! Hook because we returned in his yo-yo that he wandered into a sand trap and hasn't been seen since. We're not worried about "Hook" Hanselman, but what we're going to do durnar the long winter months without our yo-yo?

PASS THE BIS-CUITS, Miranda!

("Why Jan only get to work it twice a week to wash table cloths instead of six times" three times) When John Smith worked into the dining club and saw bread by the dozen—four on end, I'm told—in the pantry, and saw bread left over from meals, he thought it a shame to throw it away. Later, he began thinking about making a change in the eating habits of some of Wartburg's diners. Then when one day he timed a meal and found that the students were eating in four minutes flat, literally setting without chewing, she was sure there was room for improvement.

The result of these observations is the "Hostess" or family style of serving. Just like at home when Pa sat at one end of the table and carved the meat and passed the portion out to each of his children of course a one got most until he had eaten three bowls of soup!

The new plan goes something like this. One student from each table is picked as the server or hostess. He or she sits at the end of the table nearest the table reserved for the waiters. He fills it evenly and as carefully as possible. This not only assures all students of getting their share, but it prevents the waiters from having table edibles on the table cloths, that Jan wants so hard to keep clean.

The plan is of course in its trial stage and there is still room for improvement. Some of the students are complaining about not getting enough to eat, others that one slice, some say it's too much work for the hostess but on the whole it should improve a great deal and it prevents the waiters from having to wash to increase their efficiency as they do now.

Seniors Gorge at Melon Feast

By George Reinke

If anyone wonders why Doc Hertel is so popular with the senior class, the answer is watermelon. The seniors, noted for their ravenous appetites, were invited to a watermelon feed up Doc on Sunday, September 26, and for once in a lifetime got their full of watermelon. The Sunday was a perfect Indian summer evening and thanks to Carl Pellger and the station wagon we found a secluded spot on the banks of the Cedar River. It was decided to forget our appetites to the highest degree, so we could really enjoy ourselves. Hungry as the bear that he is, Doc was the first to start the feast. It is reported that melon seeds are still floating over the spillway.

We topped the evening off with marshmallows and a sing-fest around a bonfire. When darkness settled we traveled homeward, tired, happy, satisfied.

P. S.—It is rumored that no senior got much sleep that night.

BONER OF THE WEEK

Hall, Judge Miller, III, Wartburg's theatrical introvert, makes a practice of pointing out all the professors say and he likes to be right. Recently when Dr. Hughes made the statement, "The word 'Will' is never found in the imperative case in the Bible," Neal asked very blandly, "Are you sure of that?" "Yes," returned Dr. Hughes without hesitation. The class roared. Dr. Heather looked at Neal, looked at the floor and didn't say a word. Do you read the Bible, Neal?
